1. SOVIET AMBASSADOR'S INFORMATION FROM BEAVERBROOK
  2. GERMAN BOMBING OF LONDON
- (1940)

From: LONDON

To: BOMB

Re: 1069

26th Sept. 40

To DIRECTOR.

1. BEAVERBROOK (i) told the MASTER of the METRO (KNO2Yain METRO, (ii) that they were working on night air defence (PVO) with the aim of enabling fighter pilots see in the dark. He said that the position was good in regard to matériel; they had reserves and from October onwards would be receiving 750 aircraft from SUSA (iii). They apparently have as many bombers (a group garbled) the SAUSAGE-DEALERS (KOLB.SHIKI, (iv). From November onwards they would begin to get Canadian pilots. On 20th September 119 British aircraft of three types bombed BERLIN. Apparently a few days ago the British once again secretly received peace (B. conditions) from the Germans. He says they are not bad. The basic (B. condition) is that the British are not to interfere in the affairs of the continent of Europe.

2. On 25th of September I was in the western suburbs of LONDON. There has been slight bomb damage to the FIRESTONE (FIRESTONE) Tyre Factory and the PACKARD automobile workshops in the GREAT WEST ROAD industrial area. One workshop has been damaged in the large SLOUGH complex of factories. At the same time the SAUSAGE-DEALERS are continuing to bomb housing and railway junctions in LONDON. As night falls the British increase the number of balloon barrages. About 150 can be seen from the METRO (v), which bears that there are not less than 600 in town. Their height is not more than 1,500-2,000 metres. A British-made mine weighing 1,300 kg and three metres long was dropped in Tooting. A group [unidentified] naval ratings sent from FOLKESTONE rendered it safe.
